

DECISION

INPUT

RAW_INPUT
Should we fear death?
DOMAIN
philosophy

QUESTION

how should we investigate this?

CONDITION

begin from harm analysis: fear is a response to anticipated harm

TRANSFORMATION

write into methodology that we begin from harm analysis

CONDITION

begin from what death means

TRANSFORMATION

write conceptual analysis

CONDITION

begin from felt dread

TRANSFORMATION

write phenomenology

STATE

METHODOLOGY

harm analysis

INVESTIGATION_APPROACH

examine rational fear

WHAT_COUNTS_AS_EVIDENCE

structure of harm

METHODOLOGY

conceptual analysis

INVESTIGATION_APPROACH

meaning of the terms

METHODOLOGY

phenomenology

INVESTIGATION_APPROACH

the felt sense of dread

DECISION

QUESTION

does death harm the one who dies?

CONDITION

death takes from you the future goods you would have had

TRANSFORMATION

write into output that death deprives us of future goods

CONDITION

no subject remains to be harmed

TRANSFORMATION

write the epicurean answer

CONDITION

the harm falls on the living

TRANSFORMATION

write the relational answer

OUTPUT

OUTPUT

Yes — death deprives us of the future goods ...

OUTPUT

No — once you are gone, there is no one left ...

OUTPUT

The harm falls on those who remain ...